A MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

Dear Colleagues,

As TFG employees and business contacts we can be proud of working for and with an organisation where ethical behaviour is core to how we do business.

Our Code of Ethical Conduct is a statement of our commitment to integrity and high ethical standards in all that we do at TFG. It includes our Purpose, Vision and Values and sets out the clear standards of behaviour that we should demonstrate in dealing with colleagues and those outside TFG such as our customers, business contacts, shareholders and any other external stakeholder. Our Code of Ethical Conduct provides us with an ethical roadmap and assists us in our daily decision-making and activities, ensuring that we always do the right thing and do things right.

Our Code of Ethical Conduct does not cover every legal or ethical question that we may face at TFG. However, by adhering to the principles in this Code, our policies and procedures, and by applying sound judgment to our activities, we can demonstrate our commitment to our core values of putting our customers first, working smart and fast and doing the right thing.

It is important that we all read, understand and adhere to the principles contained in our Code of Ethical Conduct. We all share the responsibility of making our core values a central part of our everyday business activities so that our excellent reputation is maintained in all of our business dealings.

Thank you for your commitment to making TFG a really great place to work.

Anthony Thunström

Chief Executive Officer

July 2022

1. PURPOSE AND SCOPE

1.1 WHAT IS THE CODE OF ETHICAL CONDUCT?

Our Code of Ethical Conduct (“the Code”) has as its purpose the integration of TFG’s Purpose, Vision and Values. It also incorporates rules and regulations that govern our conduct.

- 1.1.1 ETHICS are concerned with our moral principles and should guide our conduct regarding whether an action is right or wrong, a motive is good or bad, an outcome is desirable or undesirable.
- 1.1.2 UNETHICAL BEHAVIOUR means behaviour or a business practice that is not in line with TFG’s values and underlying principles of good governance.
- 1.1.3 BUSINESS ETHICS refer to principles, norms and standards that guide TFG’s conduct regarding our activities, internal relations and interactions with external shareholders.
- 1.1.4 VALUES are norms or standards for right, good and fair conduct, including underlying beliefs held by people about the way life should be lived and/or business conducted.

The Code is one of the most important policy documents in TFG. It defines acceptable behavioural standards within which employees and business contacts in all our businesses are expected to make decisions and act. The Code provides guidance for values-based decision-making and forms the basis for our policy framework.

1.2 TO WHOM DOES THE CODE APPLY?

It applies globally to all of our employees including but not limited to our directors, management and all other permanent and temporary employees. Our directors and management must ensure that employees are aware of the Code, is observant of TFG’s ethical obligations and must take steps to ensure compliance with the Code and set an example to employees in all matters pertaining to the Code.

We also expect from our business partners, consultants, suppliers, service providers and agents (collectively referred to as “business contacts” and also include all employees of the business contacts), with whom TFG contracts or does business, whether currently or in the future and irrespective of their status as a natural or legal person or any other entity, to comply with the values and principles in the Code, thereby contributing to our ongoing business success.

1.3 HOW DO WE USE THE CODE?

TFG has numerous service divisions, retail brands with stores in multiple locations, as well as distribution centres and manufacturing facilities. Each of these divisions / brands and their employees represent TFG in all their interactions.

To ensure that our reputation is not harmed, we need a reference point for behaviour, and this is embodied in the Code. Employees should thus use the Code to guide their behaviour and decision-making. Think of the Code as a compass that directs us in the right direction - the ethical direction.

The Code does not function in isolation. It is designed to be consistent with the laws of each country where we operate and aligns to our internal policies and procedures, for example TFG's Anti-Corruption Policy and Disciplinary Policy. The Code does not provide guidelines for every situation we may encounter. It rather emphasises our values and acceptable standards of conduct that must permeate all behaviour and work-related relationships.

Just as TFG has a responsibility to communicate these standards to employees, employees have a responsibility to make sure that they understand the values, standards and principles set out in the Code. If anyone is in doubt about what to do in any situation, they have to read this Code and can seek guidance and advice from their manager or the Fuse.

1.4 SUPERSEDEENCE

This policy replaces all previous TFG policies or declarations regarding the matters contained herein.

2 OUR PURPOSE, VISION AND VALUES

Living our purpose, vision and values mean that we must all commit and adhere to:

- PURPOSE

We inspire our customers to live their best lives

- VISION

To create the most remarkable omnichannel experience for our customers

- VALUES

2.1 We put our customers first

2.2 We work smart and fast

2.3 We do the right thing

Each of us individually represents TFG in one way or the other. This places a huge responsibility on our shoulders. Our values make it easier for us to carry this responsibility because they act as our compass; steering us in the right direction and keeping us on track.

2.1 WE PUT OUR CUSTOMERS FIRST

If we don't please our customers, they'll find someone who does.

2.1.1 QUALITY CUSTOMER SERVICE

We market our products and services accurately and honestly and we disclose all relevant information regarding our products and services which customers cannot reasonably learn for themselves. We ensure that we listen to their needs and use data and analytics to inform our decision-making.

2.1.2 BEING CREATIVE AND INNOVATIVE

We embrace new ideas, technologies and innovations. Our performance is driven by our creativity and innovation. We are committed and passionate about what we do and encourage our colleagues to proactively address challenges creatively and with confidence to deliver the best shopping experience for our customers.

2.1.3 ENHANCED CUSTOMER EXPERIENCE

Thousands of people interact with us daily through our stores, contact centres, websites and service divisions. We rely on them for their business. In turn we owe it to them to provide outstanding customer service by always being friendly, helpful, courteous and respectful.

2.2 WE WORK SMART AND FAST

Today, staying in the same place means becoming irrelevant

2.2.1 HAVING THE RIGHT SKILLS, KNOWLEDGE, ENERGY AND ATTITUDE

We perform our work in a competent manner and to the standards TFG reasonably requires of us. We work quickly, effectively and take decisive action. We promote TFG's legitimate business interests in a diligent manner and acknowledge the needs of our stakeholders.

Because we value our work, we commit to improving productivity, efficiency and quality and we push ourselves and one another to maximise the impact of our actions. We are honest about our qualifications and work experience and will not misrepresent these.

2.2.2 PROVIDING ENCOURAGING LEADERSHIP

We expect our leaders to lead by example and always conduct themselves in an ethical manner. We encourage taking responsibility for actions and decisions and require that our leaders provide guidance and direction to those who need it.

Our leaders push the boundaries by taking risks and allowing us to take risks, to try new ideas and to grow from our experiences.

2.2.3 PROVIDING RESOURCES

To be productive, employees need the right skills, knowledge and resources. TFG ensures that employees not only receive opportunities for acquiring necessary skills and knowledge, but that they are also provided with relevant resources to be their best at work.

2.3 WE DO THE RIGHT THING

And we do things right

2.3.1 BEING ACCOUNTABLE

We take personal responsibility for all our actions and decisions. We do not pass the blame for any of our mistakes to others and we know that we will be held accountable, regardless of our seniority in TFG. If we make mistakes, we own them.

We report accurately to shareholders on the performance and prospects of TFG. Our financial statements are accurate. Because we are committed to professionalism and accountability we will provide all information and explanations which auditors may require for the performance of their functions.

Our business contacts are key to our business. We therefore deal with them honestly and diligently. We ensure that we pay them and that we honour our contracts with them. We also expect our business contacts to comply with our values and act in the spirit of the Code, failing which may lead to the termination of the business relationship.

2.3.2 UPHOLDING TFG'S REPUTATION

Our reputation is built on trust and is a valuable asset which we are proud of. We all have a responsibility to maintain this trust by acting honestly and with integrity at all times, thereby also protecting and enhancing our reputation.

2.3.3 COMPLYING WITH LAWS AND REGULATIONS

We comply with the laws of the countries in which we operate, including relevant best practice standards and industry regulations, all stipulations governing labour relations and conditions of employment and we are guided by the 10 Principles of the United Nations Global Compact.

2.3.4 HAVING MORAL COURAGE

We live our lives honestly and commit to our values and principles. Sometimes we experience pressure to stray from our principles. Because we know what is right and what is wrong, we will have the moral courage to live and act according to our values and core convictions and challenge those who do not.

2.3.5 TREATING OTHERS FAIRLY AND WITH DIGNITY

We treat all people fairly and in an even-handed manner. We do not unfairly discriminate in promotions, appointments, remuneration or any interactions with fellow employees, customers, business contacts and other parties with whom we have contact. Favouritism and any other actions that result in unfairness are unacceptable.

2.3.6 WE EMBRACE DIVERSITY AND RESPECT OTHERS

We value the rich diversity of our work environment and our customers and we acknowledge, embrace, and respect differences in all our employees. We respect the dignity and basic human rights of our colleagues, customers, business contacts and other stakeholders and treat them the way we want to be treated.

We ensure that we do not unfairly discriminate against individuals in terms of gender, race, religion, marital status, economic status, social standing, sexual orientation and disabilities or any other arbitrary reason. Embracing diversity allows TFG to become a more positive, engaged, motivated and unified workplace.

We also participate, within our means, in supporting the communities in which we operate and contribute to their well-being.

2.3.7 RESPECTING TFG

We respect not only each other, but also the property of TFG. As such we avoid any waste, damage, unauthorised removal, theft and private use of TFG's resources or stock. This includes wasting or misuse of company funds and resources, including time.

We show our respect to TFG by carrying out any reasonable instructions given to us by those who are authorised to do so.

2.3.8 RESPECTING COMPETITORS

We show respect to our competitors by abstaining from anti-competitive behaviour and not making dishonest allegations about them or their products and services.

2.3.9 RESPECTING THE CONFIDENTIALITY OF INFORMATION

We always act in the best interests of TFG, our employees and our customers. We do not divulge confidential information about employees, TFG's business interests, our customers or trade secrets, without prior authorisation nor do we use this information or any of TFG's intellectual property to compete with TFG or to enrich ourselves to the detriment of TFG.

Those of us who have access to information that is not public and that could affect the share price of The Foschini Group Limited if it is made public, may not trade in this company's shares as long as this information has not been made public. We may also never make such information available to anyone else.

2.3.10 PROVIDING OPPORTUNITIES FOR PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND TRANSFORMATION

Because we believe in the inherent potential of every one of our employees and in the principles of transformation and providing equal opportunities, we provide appropriate development and growth opportunities. In return TFG expects that employees will use the skills and knowledge acquired whilst at TFG to contribute to the growth and sustainability of TFG.

2.3.11 PROVIDING A WORKING ENVIRONMENT FREE OF HARASSMENT AND INTIMIDATION

We strive to create a work environment that is free of intimidation, victimisation and sexual, physical or emotional or any other type of harassment. We respect the right of our colleagues, customers, business contacts and other stakeholders to work in an environment free of harassment.

We refrain from any behaviour that could be construed as such by always behaving courteously and respectfully towards others. We do not discuss, view, download or distribute any inappropriate or pornographic material.

2.3.12 PROVIDING A SAFE AND HEALTHY WORKING ENVIRONMENT

We observe all applicable health and safety laws and we adhere to best practices and standards. TFG ensures that employees have the resources to meet our health and safety responsibilities and we require that everyone adheres to our health and safety principles.

2.3.13 RESPONSIBLY ENGAGING IN PARTY POLITICAL ACTIVITIES

We recognise fellow employees' rights to freedom of association and speech. As individuals we are free to engage in legal political activity in our personal capacity, but we may not make use of TFG's premises, resources or time for this purpose, or to promote personal political views. As a company we refrain from making political party donations and sponsorships.

2.3.14 COMBATING CRIMINAL, UNETHICAL AND HARMFUL ACTIVITIES

Criminal activities are unethical and include, but are not limited to theft, corruption, bribery, fraud and money-laundering. We will for example not accept bribes from customers or business contacts nor will we give bribes.

We will also not be under the influence of alcohol or drugs at work or whilst on business trips and will not participate in the sale, distribution, possession or use of alcohol, drugs or illegal substances at work or whilst representing TFG. We will take immediate action against anyone who engages in such activities.

2.3.15 RESPONSIBLY ACCEPTING GIFTS

Receiving a gift makes each of us feel good. However, we should guard against being influenced and creating the impression that one will receive a business benefit in exchange for accepting a gift. We never accept cash as a gift, and we adhere to the principles contained in the Receipt of Gifts Policy.

2.3.16 AVOIDING CONFLICTS OF INTERESTS

We avoid situations where our personal interests or those of our spouses, partners, immediate family, associates and friends conflict, or could potentially conflict, with the business of TFG. This means for example, that we should not do business with a supplier who is a family member of a TFG employee. TFG expects that we must always disclose in writing to a Line Manager or the Fuse any personal interest and we should recuse ourselves from situations where our personal interests could influence our decision-making, including employment within TFG.

Should you engage in personal relationships at work (including romantic and sexual relationships) or if you are related to a colleague, you must ensure that the relationship does not raise concerns about favoritism, bias, ethics and conflicts of interest. In case of doubt, speak to your Line Manager or the Fuse. Where one employee has influence or control over another's conditions of employment and they are involved in a romantic or sexual relationship or if they are related (family members), TFG will view the situation as inappropriate. Anyone who is involved in such a situation or has knowledge thereof has a duty to report it to their Line Manager or the Fuse.

2.3.17 BEING TRUTHFUL IN OUR COMMUNICATIONS

We always tell the truth, even when it is uncomfortable to do so. We listen attentively to each other, our customers and other stakeholders and make every reasonable effort to keep our promises. Because we work as a team we communicate openly with our colleagues and other stakeholders in a timely fashion and we provide information to others in TFG who require it to make sound decisions.

3 SEEKING ADVICE

In instances where employees are uncertain about the right course of action in a particular situation, or have ethical concerns or questions, employees are urged to speak freely to their supervisor, Line Manager or any other TFG manager. Employees can also approach the Fuse or call the Deloitte Tip-Off Line. Concerns and questions will be treated in the strictest confidence.

When faced with a difficult ethical decision we should ask the following questions:

- 3.1 Is the action or decision I am considering legal?
- 3.2 Do the Code, our values and policies allow it?
- 3.3 Will my action or decision be just and fair to all involved?
- 3.4 Does my action or decision respect the rights of all involved?
- 3.5 Will I be comfortable sharing my decision with those closest to me?
- 3.6 How will my Line Manager and Board members view my conduct in light of the Code?
- 3.7 How will TFG and I be judged by society if my decision is reported in the media?
- 3.8 Does my action favour someone with whom I have a personal relationship?

4 SPEAKING OUT AND REPORTING UNETHICAL BEHAVIOUR

4.1 WHAT HAPPENS WHEN THE PRINCIPLES OF THE CODE ARE BREACHED?

Our values and business principles are fundamental to the way we conduct business at TFG. It is therefore expected that all employees will adhere to the highest standards of business ethics. We will take action against anyone who does not comply with the spirit and principles of the Code. Transgression of the Code will result in disciplinary action and even dismissal where appropriate.

Should our business contacts not uphold our values and principles contained in the Code, we may terminate our relationship with them.

4.2 SPEAKING OUT

If there are concerns about potential breaches of the Code or if we believe an action or a decision is not consistent with our values and ethical principles, we have a responsibility to raise and report it. TFG provides us with safe and effectively managed channels and procedures to report unethical or illegal conduct with our immediate supervisor, manager, any other person with management responsibility, the Fuse or the Deloitte Tip-Off Line.

4.3 REPORTING UNETHICAL BEHAVIOUR

Criminal and unethical behaviour not only impacts our economy negatively, but, if left unreported, will have an adverse effect on our reputation, trustworthiness, organisational culture and the sustainability of TFG.

Each one of us have an obligation to seek advice or to report unethical conduct, harmful or criminal activity, even if we just have a suspicion. TFG will protect those who report unethical behaviour in good faith and we will not tolerate any form of victimisation of those who reported such activity. Use the Deloitte Tip-Off Line to report any unethical behaviour. Reports must, however, be made in good faith. Malicious reporting will result in disciplinary measures against the reporter.

Report any concerns or knowledge about unethical and illegal conduct to a manager or the Fuse. We understand that it is sometimes difficult to speak out for fear of retaliation or victimisation, but TFG will protect anyone if the report is made in good faith. The Deloitte Tip-Off Line is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and 365 days a year. Reports can be made in any official language.

We do not have to produce complete evidence of a matter we report on, but we must have reasonable grounds for our suspicions.

There are three ways of reporting:

- (a) anonymously, which means that no one will know the reporter's identity;
- (b) partially anonymous, which means that the Deloitte Tip-Off Line will have the reporter's details, but they will not share it with TFG; or
- (c) the reporter provides all of their details.

Each report will be given a reference number to obtain feedback or to make follow-up reports.

We will investigate every report received and, where possible, we will provide feedback about actions taken.
